

PETER JOHN REID WORKSHOP
Material List

Materials will be discussed in detail during the course. The following list is to give you the basics of what would be useful during the course. You need to read it if you're going to get what you need and not things you don't!

Paint:

- Phalo Blue or Phalo Blue Green Shade (not Red Shade)
- Ultramarine Blue or French
- Cadmium/Pyrole or Naphthol Red Light (medium is ok)
- Primary or Quinacridone Magenta
- Cad/Bismuth or Arlide (Hansa) Yellow Lite
- Cad/Bismuth or Arlide (Hansa) Yellow Deep
- Titanium White
- Burnt Sienna
- Yellow Ochre/Yellow Oxide

If you signed up for a colour course be sure to have these colours not the one the guy in the art stores tells you is close. This is the same colour list for all my classes and is a good primary list.

Substrate: Bring your choice of canvas, canvas boards, masonite panels, birch panels or water colour paper. Better to work smaller and complete more work in the workshop than a single, large piece (8 x 10 to 16 x 20 range are good sizes for a workshop). My preference is canvas.

NOTE: If you are sign up for the TECHNIQUES CLASS bring 5 - 12"x12" canvas, boards, dollar store boards are fine.
STEP BY STEP classes canvas size listed on the course listing on my website www.peterjohnreid.com.

Pallet: Your pallet should be flat, with no little wells for paint to stick in, and white. It can be glass, no-stick, plastic or disposable; wet pallets are a great asset keeping your paint and mixes wet. Also bring paper towels and water cup or container. (My preference is to empty an ice cream container. I would be happy to do that for you prior to class!)

Brushes: Most brushes can be used for acrylic painting, along with fingers, colour shapers and sponges. Below are the brushes I like to use most often. Get a couple of sizes in either flats or Filberts and one or two large flat like below. Don't buy real cheap brushes but nor do you need to buy expensive brushes.

Small Spray Bottles:

These are not used in every class but I will show you how and where to use them. These are just cheap little bottles from the dollar store, that we will be filling with paint, they often don't last more than the day so extras are handy. Have at least 3, Required for The Art of Splash, Watercolour Techniques and Trees Classes.

Reference Materials: Bring your own photos, ipads or tablets are handy. Step by Step classes reference is provided

Peter's Book: Available at the course - $39.95 - no one to date has been disappointed with the purchase of this book, although I do have an unlisted number. The book will be available at the time of the class.

Some locations provide easels or tables for your use. Please check with the registrar for availability.
